Hallowe'en Masquerade.

The Auditorium was beautifully decorated on Saturday evening with lovely festoonings and mistletoe hung in bunches at intervals on the galleries and from the edges of the galleries. The effect was charming. The galleries were crowded with a throng of people to see the skaters. There were many weird and unique costumes. Among them were the widow, several clowns, and Night, with a black dress with stars upon it, and a crown bearing the moon and stars. The witch was gowned in yellow with black cats around the bottom of the dress and on the waist. She wore a tall witch's hat and carried a broom.

There were ghosts walking around and night riders, too, to see that things were kept straight. Even the Court jester was there to keep the people bright and happy and in a good humor.

For the best dressed couple, a beautiful mirror was won by Miss Sutherland, as Night, and Mr. Chares Pinnell, as a bloomer-girl.

The most unique costume for gentlemen was worn by Mr. Cullom Foster, as a night rider. The prize for the most comical make-up was won by Mr. Ben Wills, who represented a country woman.

The monkey and coon were led in by log chains and were only kept from a fight by starting them on the laps. The coon was furious because the monkey won and had to have a fight before it was over.

Five Hundred Club.

Miss Richie Lane entertained the Five Hundred Club, at her home on last Thursday evening. The members are: Misses Mary and Richie Lane, Florrie Smith, Allan Crutcher, Ormie and Nancy Hodgkin, Lucy and Ella Stuart and Winnie Garret. After the games were finished, refreshments were served. The next meeting of the Club will be with Miss Smith.

Halloween Party.

A Hallowe'en party was given at the home of Miss Amber Edwards on the Wades Mill pike which was beautiful in its decorations of jack-o-lanterns, autumn leaves and pumpkins grinning as if trying to look as grotesque as possible for Halloween.

Many games were played, trying of fortunes, cracking of nuts, biting apples from a string, and many other things. Everyone had a grand time and were sorry when the time came to go home.

An elegant lunch was served in which the Halloween idea was carried out. Among those present were: Misses Eddie, Mayme and Susie Osborne, Annie and Nettie Farris, Sarah Bush, Lillie and Ruth Martin, Margaret Davis and Mattie Martin; Messrs. Lawrence and Younger Osborne, Harvey Brock, Evans Brock, David Davis, Leon Neal, Roscoe Farris, Walter Gamboe, Beverly Witt and Revs. Stone and Knox, of Lexington.

K. W. C. NOTES

President Taylor and wife spent last week in Danville and Bryantsville in the interest of the College.

Tuesday evening, the Y. M. C. A. listened to the report of its delegates from the Students International Bible Conference held at Columbus, O., Oct. 22, 25. Prof. Spencer and Mr. Akin report a most pleasant and instructive time. Among the speakers were, John R. Mott, Robt. E. Spear, President Strong, Kansas University, Pres. King of Oberlin, Dr. J. H. Kirkland, of Vanderbilt, Col. Larney, of West Point Military Academy, Drs. McDonald, Editor Toronto Globe, Prof. Moore, of Harvard, Prof. Muller, of Princeton, Dr. O. E. Brown, of Vanderbilt and Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee Institute.

The report showed that over 48,000 college students in the country are engaged in daily, systematic study of the Bible. The report will be repeated before the entire student body this week.

Mr. J. E. Cooper, of Lexington, an old K. W. C. boy, has been chosen treasurer of the Kentucky Association of Pharmacy.

A number of K. W. C. men took in the Sewanee State game at Lexington Saturday. It was a game full of interest to the local men as well as to the Lexington people. It was a contest of beef against brains and as usual brains won. The Sewanee team was outweighed easily 15 pounds to the man. The final score was 12 to 0 in favor of Sewanee. Profs. Moore, Lewis and Dalgety, Dr. Worthington and Boles and Goldsboro of the local squad saw the game.

Mr. Marion Spalding, K. W. C., '08, and now in the Law School of Kentucky State University and E. B. Van Hook, another former K. W. C. boy, are here to root for the college men in the game with Georgetown. Both men were members of last year's football team.

Mr. W. F. Hayes of the class of 1885, died in the Sanitarium at Lexington, last week, after an illness of several years duration. He leaves a mother.

Mr. Reynolds of Boston Conservatory of Music is meeting with encouraging success in building up a violin class in the college. Mr. Reynolds spends two days a week here, Wednesday and Saturday. The rest of his time is taken up at his studio at Lexington.

Prof. Anderson preached in the Methodist Church at Richmond, Sunday. Among the pulpits supplied by our boys was Owingsville M. E. Church by J. W. Weldon.

Mr. J. A. Wright K. W. C. '08, has been appointed by Presiding Elder, Southgate to take charge of the Owingsville M. E. Church.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Mrs. W. B. Moore.

Mrs. W. B. Moore, of St. Louis, Mo., sister of Col. H. P. Thompson, of this county, died at her home in St. Louis Monday morning. Mrs. Moore will be buried in Winchester Cemetery Tuesday. The body will be brought here on the C. & O. train at noon Tuesday and will be taken to the cemetery immediately. Services will be preached by Elders. J. W. Harding and J. M. Rash.

ENOCH SMITH SERIOUSLY CUT NEAR BEATTYVILLE.

BEATTYVILLE, Ky., Nov. 2.—Enoch Smith, son of Squire John N. Smith, was seriously cut by John Murphy, in Proctor, just across the river from this place last night. It appears Smith was drinking and was abusing some women.

COLORED COLUMN

Delightful Reception.

Mrs. W. M. Trivers gave a delightful reception. Friday evening, which was a quiet and enjoyable affair. The room was decorated with purple chrysanthemums. In this room stood the receiving line, Miss M. Haggard and May Trivers. The guests were then ushered by Miss Shackelford and Miss Adams into the dining room, which was also profuse with chrysanthemums. White and pink cream; cake and hot chocolate were served. Among those present were Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Bruner, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Deck, Mrs. Vivion, Mrs. G. Turner, Mrs. H. Turner, Mrs. Garvin, Mrs. Wills, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. Cowan, Mrs. Biggerstaff, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Burch, Mrs. Drumer and Mrs. Stinson.

The funeral of Ode Watts, aged 24 years, of L. & E. Junction, who died of appendicitis, was held at his home at L. & E. Junction Sunday morning.

The Hippodrome.

The entertainment at the Hippodrome Saturday night was a feature in colored circles. A large crowd was present and there was fun from start to finish.

The brooch prize was won by Miss Effie Hampton after a most spirited contest for the most perfect mask. The judges were Mrs. Mayme Deck, Mrs. Stella Johnson and Miss Lucy Deck.

In the contest for a pair of skates to be given to a man, the judges were Chester Colerane, A. W. Taylor and Frank Taylor. In this contest there was a sensation. The judges decided in favor of the party representing the character of "Brer Rabbit," and behold it was a woman. Mrs. Callie Eeton.

As the skates were to be given to a man a question of the legality of the decision was raised. But it was decided that a woman who could fool the judges and everybody else was entitled to the prize. The next contest was a boy's race with three prizes. The News failed to get the names of the winners. Mr. John Bruner was judge. Skates off at 11 and dancing was continued until the spook hour, 12 o'clock.
